Ronson Lighter Production To Be Transferred Here

NEWARK, N. J. (AP) — The Ronson Corp. is transferring cigarette lighter production from Newark to its East Stroudsburg, Pa., plant.

The move, announced Saturday night, calls for the immediate dismissal of 550 employees here. The company will retain its executive offices, research facilities and two divisions—air products and flint—at Newark, with a force of about 350.

Said J. H. Stoner, general manager of Ronson Corp. of Pennsylvania, operators of the East Stroudsburg manufacturing facilities:

"THERE WILL be no transfer to East Stroudsburg of hourly rated employees from Newark, and only a few key supervisory people will be asked to join the East Stroudsburg organization, where expanded operations require additional supervision.

"With the major portion of the lighter production being concentrated at East Stroudsburg," Stoner added, "we will be able as soon as additional manufacturing facilities have been completed to maintain an even balance of production and steady employment."

IN ANNOUNCING the shutdown, Louis V. Aronson II, president of the company, said the decision "was forced upon the company by local economic conditions, including obsolete plant facilities, which have made profitable operations impossible. The problem has been further complicated by the revocation of the charter of Local 589 (United Auto Workers-CIO) and the cancellation of our labor agreement."

Mundt Expects Compromise In Subpoena War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mundt (R-SD) said yesterday he thought an armistice had been reached in what he described as "a sort of subpoena war" in the televised McCarthy-Army hearings.

Mundt, acting chairman of the Senate Investigations subcommittee probe, told newsmen he had taken no action on a request by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) that he subpoena material in Army files. McCarthy, the subcommittee's regular chairman, has stepped aside while Mundt directs a search for the truth in charges traded by the Wisconsin senator and Secretary of the Army Stevens and their aides.

ON THE EVE of today's resumption of the hearings, Mundt indicated he expected a compromise over a flurry of subpoena demands to die down.

"I'm assuming all the subpoenas are inoperative," he commented.

The subpoena skirmish flared up Friday when Mundt, saying he was acting at the insistence of Democratic subcommittee members, signed a formal demand for the production of all material in the subcommittee's own files on which Pvt. G. David Schine, formerly an unpaid consultant for the group, had worked.

ALMOST IMMEDIATELY after McCarthy got this, he asked Mundt to issue a subpoena for just about everything in the Army's files bearing on his dispute with Stevens and Army Counselor John G. Adams.

Mundt spoke of the subpoenas as being on "a tit for tat basis"—a sort of subpoena war in which we have reached an armistice," he added.

Tornado Kills Four Children

NORFOLK, NEB. (AP) — Disaster workers yesterday found a house vanished, chunks of asphalt paving ripped from the ground and whole farms reduced to sticks and splinters in a 30-mile strip of rich Nebraska farm country where four died and a score were injured last night by one or more tornadoes. All of the dead were children.

The Red Cross last night after talking to representatives of 15 farm families estimated the loss in excess of $500,000.

WHETHER THERE was more than one tornado—no one knows. It was already dark and storming when the wind hit first about seven miles east of Newman Grove, a northeastern Nebraska community about 25 miles southwest of Norfolk, about 8:35 p. m.

At least a dozen farms, some of them agricultural show places, were laid waste as the storm moved in a northeasterly direction to near Hoskins, about 10 miles northeast of Norfolk.

THE TORNADO path lay between Norfolk and the county seat of Madison, leaving those and smaller neighboring communities unscathed. It apparently took about an hour to run its course.

In that hour of horror the Ben Kohl house with its six occupants was picked up, carried 150 yards and smashed to the pavement killing two of the Kohl children; the Weldon Rakowsky home where a family holiday gathering was in progress was ripped apart and an 8-year-old girl flung against a tree and killed; the Lawrence Klawonn house disintegrated killing 8-year-old Nell Klawonn; the two-story home of brothers Joe and Vincent Stevens was reduced to a four-foot-high pile of rubble.

THE KOHL home was scattered about the highway—powdered plaster was found half a mile down the road—and the occupants landed 50 or 75 feet away in a ditch, all within 40 feet of each other.

Most of those in the Rakowsky home, where eight children were among the visitors when the storm struck, were dropped on a pile of corn. Nine-year-old Arland Rakowsky was buried in the pile but dug out with only cuts and bruises.

Not a sliver of glass or a stick of wood could be found of the Klawonn house.

Four Firecrackers Hospitalize Two

MILAN, ITALY (AP) — Three street sweepers found four firecrackers yesterday and tossed them in their garbage truck with the other litter.

Then, while they were driving to the city dump, one of the three lighted a cigarette and threw the match onto the trash.

The fireworks exploded, the driver lost control, the truck hit a pole, and two of the street sweepers were taken to hospital critically injured.

Argus, 25-year-old GI from Brooklyn, N. Y., was found "alive and well" Sunday in the lonely, wind-swept tent in which he had lain nearly helpless 15 days—seven days alone—after being injured in a 1,000-foot tumble off a precipice. One member of his party was killed in the fall.

ARGUS WAS roped tightly to the sled. The eight-man rescue party crunched through the snow in extremely fast time, in spite of the fact the men had to carry or hoist and lower the sled most of the time, rather than slide it.

Their fast time was attributed to being able to follow their own footprints down the mountain. Their principal delay in going up the mountain to the 11,000-foot level where Argus had been stranded was the necessity of finding a safe path between the

ONE THAT DIDN'T GET AWAY from the Memorial Day weekend rush was this week-old sedan owned by a local resident who was in a collision near Werry's Sunnybrook on Route 209 northeast of Stroudsburg. The accident apparently had not been reported yet, police said last night. (Staff Photo by MacLeod)

Eight Injured In Accidents Over Holiday

EIGHT MONROE area accidents resulted in injury to eight people and damages of $2,530 over the holiday weekend, State and local police reported yesterday.

A total of 16 cars were involved. The figure did not take into account the small accidents which were not investigated by police or reported to authorities.

East Stroudsburg reported no accidents from Friday through yesterday. Stroudsburg police said there were a few minor collisions in the borough. Most of the investigations were made by State troopers.

ONLY CRIMINAL charge resulting from the weekend's accident roster was one of drunken driving, filed against Lawrence Buzzard, Stroudsburg RD2. The accident was at 2:15 p.m. Saturday.

Stroudsburg troopers said Buzzard was driving west on Route 209 near Finner's Greenhouse west of Stroudsburg. He attempted to make a left turn off the highway and onto a side road.

Police said the Buzzard car hit one driven by George H. Manhart, 56, Mauch Chunk. Manhart suffered a broken rib. Also injured were these passengers: his wife, Lulu, 55, a cut right leg; Sandra Berringer, 5, nose and left elbow injuries; Betty L. Snyder, 9, a broken nose.

BUZZARD WAS charged before Justice of the Peace William N. Walton, Stroudsburg, and freed on $500 bond for arraignment Tuesday night. Damages were estimated at $700.

Damages totaling $125 were caused in the two-car collision of Roy Haydt, Aquashicola, and George W. Scherer, Lehigh, at 2 p.m. Saturday on Route 209 near Snyderville.

Stroudsburg troopers said Haydt had halted, and the Scherer car collided with his. There were no injuries.

A THREE-CAR collision caused an estimated $150 damages at 3:30 p. m. Sunday near Snyderville. There were no injuries.

Stroudsburg State troopers said the west-bound auto of Frank C. Scott, Watertown, N. Y., pulled up in line of traffic to allow a car ahead to make a turn. The Scott car was struck in the rear by the

Traffic Flow Heaviest Since Opening Of New Toll Bridge

THE EIGHT-LANE TOLL GATE of the new Delaware Water Gap bridge was hit by the heaviest flow of traffic since the bridge opened—but how many vehicles that meant, nobody knew yesterday.

Officials at the bridge said they had only a count of axles—two axles for a pleasure car, then three, four, etc., for trucks. It will be at least Thursday before the axles are translated by the accounting department at Phillipsburg, N. J., into vehicles.

Even then, officials said, clearance will have to be obtained for release of this information. But a request for clearance will be filed today.

THIS MUCH could be determined: Traffic reached such proportions that seven of the eight toll lanes were in operation Saturday—the day that eclipsed the last big day—Easter Sunday.

At the peak of the traffic surge, approximately 1,100 more cars moved into Pennsylvania per hour than were moving out, officials estimated.

Despite half-hour lunch breaks and two other 15-minute breaks a day, sufficient manpower operated the toll gates to keep traffic rolling smoothly.

BIG JAM, police said, came from Stroudsburg's bottleneck back through South Stroudsburg, over Foxtown Hill and down just short of where old Route 611 turns off into Delaware Water Gap's business section.

At no time, authorities said, did the jam flow back as far as the new bridge toll gates.

NYC Decision May Be Close; Delay Hinted

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The fight for control of the New York Central Railroad may be decided by a narrow margin and the count of proxies will probably continue into next week, according to indications yesterday.

The possibility was dwindling that Robert R. Young, opposition leader, would have such a clear advantage that the management forces of Central President William White might concede defeat early on the basis of an incomplete count.

The staff of 40 persons engaged in the slow and complicated process of tabulating proxies and checking their validity have received notice for a prolonged stay. They were told they could have next Sunday as a holiday.

After establishing a safe trail, they now are following it back down at a comparably rapid pace.

They're heading 6,000 feet down the mountain to the 5,000-foot level, where it is hoped a helicopter can pick up the injured Argus this morning. The helicopter does not function safely above 5,000 feet.

Seven members of the rescue team took turns bearing the burden. The eighth member, Peter Gabriel, was not able to assist as he still is too ill.

Congress Studies Document Outlining Red Plans For World Revolution By 1973

WASHINGTON (AP) — A document which purports to outline Communist plans for world revolution by 1973 is under study by Congress.

SENATE Majority Leader Knowland (R-Calif.), placed the document in the Congressional Record recently, saying it purports to be an outline of Chinese Communist Leader Mao Tse-tung's memorandum on the new program for world revolution.

When he put it in the record, Knowland told the Senate: "I believe the information substantially states the Communist policy on world revolution."

KNOWLAND, who had the document in his possession for six months before making it public, an aide said, has not disclosed how he came into possession of it. The document however has apparently been under review by various agencies of the government.

The document is supposed to have been carried to Moscow by Chinese Communist Foreign Minister Chou En-lai in March, 1953. "The document suggested that until 'we are certain of victory' that a course leading to war should be avoided."

IN THIS connection, the year-old document said:

"There is no assurance of victory because of the higher rate of industrial production and the larger stockpile of atomic weapons on the part of the capitalist countries, in completion of antiatomic defense of the industrial areas and oil installations in the Soviet Union and immaturity of China's agricultural and industrial developments. Consequently, we have to, until we are certain of victory, take a course which will not lead to war."

The memorandum then makes these key points: "THE UNITED States must be isolated by all possible means. 'Britain must be placated by being convinced that there is possibility of settling the major issues between the East and the West and that the Communists and the capitalist countries can live in peace. Opportunities for trade will have a great influence on the British mind."

"In the case of France, her war weariness and fear of Germany must be thoroughly exploited. She must be made to feel a sense of greater security in cooperating with us than with the Western countries."

"JAPAN MUST BE convinced the rearmament endangers instead of guaranteeing her national security and that, in case of war, the American forces distributed all over the world cannot spare sufficient strength for the defense of Japan. Rearmament is, therefore, an expression of hostility toward her potential friends. Her desire to trade will offer great possibility for steering Japan away from the United States."

"As a final goal, there should be in East and Southeast Asia (after these areas are liberated) 25 million well-trained men who can be immediately mobilized. These men are to be held in readiness for emergency. They will achieve two purposes. On the one hand they will force the capitalist countries to keep on increasing defense expenses until economic collapse overtakes them."

"ON THE OTHER hand, a mere show of force, when time is ripe will bring about the capitulation of the ruling cliques of the countries to be liberated. . . .

"Formosa must be incorporated into the People's Republic of China because of the government's commitment to the people. If seizure by force is to be avoided for the time being, the entry of the Chinese people's government into the United Nations may help solve this problem. . . .

"We shall give the maximum assistance to our comrades and friends in Indochina. The experience we have had in Korea should enrich their knowledge in fighting for liberation. . . .

"THE MILITARY operations in Indochina should be carried out to such an extent as to make that war extremely unpopular among the French people and to make the French and Americans extremely hateful among the Indo-Chinese people. The object is to force the French to back out of Indochina preferably through the face-saving means of an armistice."

The memorandum foresees Burma and Thailand falling into line "after the liberation of Indochina," and that the Communists would have the whole of Indonesia by 1960.

U. S. Might Undertake New Airlift

SAIGON, INDOCHINA, (AP) — Authoritative French military sources said last night the United States may undertake a big Globemaster airlift soon to help meet the menace of a Vietnamese offensive against the Red River Delta.

The Globemasters would speed a mobile group of three battalions, or some 2,100 men, from bases in North Africa to the fighting fronts.

These sources added that Communist Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap's 351st Heavy Artillery Division has reached its base 45 miles northwest of Hanoi but that a general assault is unlikely before the last half of June. They said it seemed more probable the blow would fall in the Autumn after the rainy season.

"We must not permit anyone to inspire quarrels that eventually find good citizens bitterly opposed to good citizens, when basically all would like to be joined in effective opposition to Communism."

East, West Disagree On Control Plan

GENEVA (AP) — East and West disagreed sharply over the composition of the proposed control commission for the long sought armistice in Indochina yesterday, but they moved one step nearer to a possible cease-fire.

Military representatives of the two warring sides in Indochina were ordered to meet here today in a preliminary session. They will plan the talks to be conducted later on the actual cease-fire arrangements.

As some Western sources spoke more and more of a Geneva "Panmunjom" in which the peace talks might be stretched out for months, the nine-party conference argued the question of setting up a supervisory commission.

THE COMMUNISTS, headed by Deputy Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in the absence of Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, asked for a commission similar to the Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission in Korea. U. S. Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith objected to this formula and was supported by France's Foreign Minister Georges Bidault. Near the close of the session, Gromyko disclosed he was thinking of Poland, Czechoslovakia, India and Pakistan for the commission.

Smith pointed out that the Korean body had been unable to function properly because, he said, the Communist states on the commission, Poland and Czechoslovakia, had been anything but neutral.

DECLARING the world is divided into two hostile camps, Eisenhower said there are hundreds of millions on the sidelines, "still undecided in active loyalty."

"Possibly in no other way do the Communists so clearly exhibit their fear of the free world achieving real unity as in their persistent efforts to divide and thereby weaken us," he said.

"They exploit every difference of view among independent nations to make honest discussion falsely appear, not as a valued characteristic of free systems, but as indication of mutual antagonisms. This doctrine of divide and conquer they apply not only as between nations, but among groups and individuals of the same nation."

EISENHOWER spoke of "continuing the revolutionary march of the founding fathers" in the struggle to achieve and preserve freedom, and he added:

"As they roused in mankind the determination to win political freedom from dynastic tyranny, we can ignite in mankind the will to win intellectual freedom from the false propaganda and enforced ignorance of Communist tyranny. Through knowledge and understanding, we will drive from the temple of freedom all who seek to establish over us thought control—whether they be agents of a foreign state or demagogues for personal power and public notice."

Speech Makes Veiled Attack On McCarthy

By Watson Sims

NEW YORK (AP) — President Eisenhower called last night for a "crusade of truths" against Communism and sounded a warning against both foreign agents and "demagogues thirsty for personal power and public notice."

Speaking at a dinner highlighting the 200th anniversary of the founding of Columbia University, the President said there is no subject on which Americans are so completely united as in opposition to Communism.

BUT HE ASKED: "Yet, my friends, and I say this sadly, is there any other subject that seems . . . to be the cause of so much division among us?"

"To this problem we must apply more knowledge and intellect and less prejudice and emotion," he said.

"We must not permit anyone to inspire quarrels that eventually find good citizens bitterly opposed to good citizens, when basically all would like to be joined in effective opposition to Communism."

AT NO POINT in the speech did the President mention the sharp differences of his administration with Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.)

But his voice became sharply stern and impassioned when he referred to the "division among us."

His remarks came just four days after Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell challenged—with Eisenhower's approval — McCarthy's statement that it is the duty of government workers to supply information to congressional investigators, even if such action violates White House directives.

BROWNELL said the executive branch's responsibility for enforcing federal laws "cannot be usurped by any individual who may seek to set himself above the laws of our land."

President Eisenhower's address at the Columbia dinner in the Waldorf Astoria Hotel was a homecoming of sorts. He headed the university from 1948 until shortly before his inauguration last year, then becoming president emeritus.

Some 1,800 alumni and friends of the university gave the President a vigorous reception and frequently interrupted the nationally televised speech with applause.

SIX INTERRUPTIONS came within two minutes during the part of his speech devoted to internal division over Communism.

But the heaviest applause—a 40-second burst—came when he said America must guard against "all who seek to establish over us thought control—whether they be agents of a foreign state or demagogues thirsty for personal power and public notice."

The President flew here after laying a wreath at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Memorial Day exercises in Washington. He planned to return to the capital immediately after his speech.

Holabird Depot Newspaper Gives Other Side Of Story Regarding Situation At Tobyhanna

ALTHOUGH Baltimore newspapers have tried to discourage employee transfers from the Holabird depot to the new Signal Corps installation at Tobyhanna, the employee newspaper at the fort has made every effort to present the "other side of the story."

Called "The Baltimore Signal Reporter," the paper ran its first critique of the Tobyhanna vs. Baltimore battle on March 30. Same issue carried the front page announcement that the transfer was official.

Inside the four-page paper, the "Reporter" asked two men stationed at Holabird to give their conclusions after visits to Tobyhanna. The men were Danny Merkler, reproduction employee and Hank Muller, liaison officer.

MERKLER'S comments on Tobyhanna included: "Housing is poor, inadequate and in short supply. . . . There are adequate markets and shopping facilities in Stroudsburg and Scranton but only one (supermarket) in Mount Pocono. I found prices a few cents higher than those in Baltimore. . . . and selection. . . . less. A deep freeze is essential."

Muller, on the same subject, says: "There is plenty of housing available within a radius of 18 miles of the Tobyhanna depot. Rent for substantial houses run from $45 and up—including utilities. Real estate brokers are more than willing to help you find a place you can afford."

"PRICES IN Stroudsburg and Scranton supermarkets are in line with Baltimore's," Muller continues. "Prices at stores near summer resorts are high during the tourist season. If you want to eat out, there are many excellent places in the area."

On the subject of television, Merkler and Muller seem to be in agreement, however. Says Merkler:

"That area is the greatest for television reception. You need a tall antenna—some are as much as 50 or 60 feet high—to pull all nine channels available. You can get New York, Philadelphia and Scranton stations."

MULLER CONCURS: "With a high antenna, reception is very good on four or five channels."

Both men seemed to agree basically on a few other matters: Tobyhanna residents sometimes drive 20 to 25 miles to see a movie or bowl a bit; scenery, golf, hunting and fishing are tops; ditto swimming and ice skating; comic strips popular in Baltimore are generally available in local newspapers; postal service is "slower."

In the April 15 issue of the "Reporter," the paper reports on a three-day trip to Tobyhanna by four Holabird employees. This team, which made the trip specifically to "look over" housing conditions and the depot itself, reported favorably on some portions of the change.

"FROM OUR observations we found that after careful shopping, anyone can find comfortable living quarters in any of the three areas discussed," the committee reported. The "three areas" were Stroudsburg, Scranton and Wilkes-Barre.

This issue of the "Reporter" also carries a two-page picture-spread of activities inside the depot. Photo in the centerfold shows Cynthia Brown, depot nurse (from Mount Pocono) demonstrating application of a bandage. The "patient" is Joan Riley, Tannersville, now a secretary at the depot.

The "Reporter" kept its sense of humor through all the pro-and-conning in the daily Baltimore papers. On May 7, for example, Holabird employees could open the "Reporter" to page four and have themselves a laugh at the expense of the confused situation.

A CARTOON on that page shows a depot employee—obviously the Casanova type—sitting across a desk from a learned-looking gent with spectacles and an open book.

On the wall is a sign saying: "Tour of Tobyhanna, May 22 and 23—Information on Housing, Food, Travel and so forth." The cartoon's caption reads:

"I'm sorry we don't have that information. In fact, Dr. Kinsey never heard of Tobyhanna."

We hate to disillusion our neighbors down in Baltimore—even the ones who still have a sense of humor. But we've got a couple of statistics along those (Kinsey) line we think they ought to hear about.

MONROE COUNTY'S population in 1940 was 29,862. In 1950 it was 33,773. That means the population (and/or birth rate) rose 3,911 in ten years.

Baltimore, on the other hand, had a population of 859,100 in 1940 and a 1950 census of only 949,708. Both figures from the World Almanac. So Baltimoreans increased 90,608 in number in 10 years. Percentage-wise—and this is the

Reward For Dodging

We are not informed fully on the legal ramifications in the case of one Dick Haymes, husband to the beautiful and much-married Rita Hayworth, as he exults over the suspension of his deportation order by the Board of Immigration Appeals.

All we know about the case involving the 35-year-old crooner is the statement of the Immigration people to the effect that Haymes claimed exemption from the draft during World War II, on the argument that he was an alien. A visit to Hawaii last year and subsequent return to the United States, they say, violated the conditions of his admissibility to this country.

Maybe his legal representatives will be able to stall off the order for his deportation, and if so it seems to us that he may consider it a kind of reward for dodging military service in the country from which he has derived such lucrative returns and such a pleasant life.

It could be that Haymes enthusiasts will think Uncle Sam is a cruel old curmudgeon to even think of tossing the crooner out of our land. Personally, we incline to the opinion that a character who ducks the service so many millions entered rates nothing much in the way of consideration.

The Quintuplets

How the years go roaring by! Here Marie Dionne, 19—nearly 20—has taken the vows of a novice nun—and it seems only yesterday that we were reading the headlines announcing that five children—all girls—had been born in a little town somewhere in Canada.

What excitement there was! Do you remember it? Everyone was talking about the multiple birth, and there was a great deal of discussion about whether you said it QUINTuplets or quINTuplets, so everyone sort of compromised, and we called the little girls the 'quints'.

There were learned articles about the chances of such a birth, and the even slimmer chances of survival of all five.

And little Marie was the weak one. There was a lot of worry for a long time about her, and good old Dr. Dafoe, who brought the five into the world, watched her closely. So did all of us, through newspaper accounts and radio comments. We watched, and hoped, and prayed. And little Marie came through!

It seems fitting that little Marie, for whom so much of the world prayed, should choose holy orders.

As for her sisters—well, the world will be watching. After all, who knows, maybe some day one of them might have—hmmmm?—quints herself!

That Old Strangle-Hold

Anybody you know turn up a statistic in the Memorial Day holiday travel slaughter?

Only a suicidal effort could have added to the grim death toll from highway accidents in Stroudsburg Friday, Saturday and last night.

Wasn't enough room to move to have a serious accident.

That old Stroudsburg traffic strangle was really working. Collision of Rts. 611 and 209 traffic at Seventh & Main Sts. did the trick again. Backed the vehicles up to the turn-off of old Rt. 611 at Water Gap.

Move it two blocks west to Ninth & Main, Mr. Schmidt?

The Once Over

A Neglected Opportunity

This column rather wished that the McCarthy-Army quiz had somehow been combined this week with the recent battle over the trailing of Granny Hamner, baseball star, by a private eye. Baseball and the Potomac proceed in a common. Millions of TV fans have been keeping a box score of hits and errors. The performances by some principals in the Washington quiz have brought questions whether the performers had kept in shape by retiring early, or perhaps, needed training by private operatives to keep them in fit. We had hoped the probers might work Granny Hamner into the quiz for color.

Q—Granny, do you think it necessary to retire early to stay in shape?

A—May I consult my notes? Q—That is not responsive. We are trying to bring out whether we could all do better with more sleep.

A—More sleep by the committee or by the TV audience?

Q—Strike that. I ask you the direct question: Do you know whether any principal in this hearing has been trailed?

A—I can't answer that. I have a directive from the White House, both big leagues, the Attorney General and the United Nations that this is restricted information.

Tommy Henrich, famous ex-Yankee baseball star, has taken a job as president of a big brewery. . . . We may soon come to a day when the sports pages will report a trade in which a brewer has sent a pitcher to a ball club in exchange for a couple of outfielders. . . . We may even hear of a ballplayer released to a brewer, or farmed out to a ballclub. . . . What America needs most is a rebellion against the 75-cent shave and the $1.25 haircut. . . . "Eden Gives Reds Two Weeks to Show They Want Peace"—headline. . . . That's the answer to "Pop, what's an optimist?" . . . For high comedy in the Washington TV probe nothing has equalled this week's passage between Joe McCarthy and Secretary Stevens, viz: Q—Did you talk with others? A—I probably did. Q—Who? A—Will you repeat that question? . . . Had anybody abruptly asked us, "Wanna be introduced to a tree?" we would have been pretty well stunned. "You should get around and know more of 'em" would have flobbered us. We had gone through life assuming some of our best friends were trees. Suddenly came the question: "Wanna meet a Western Soapberry?" "How about a blind date with a Tupelo or Shadblow?" and "May I present my friend the Large-Toothed Aspen? She's a sister of the Quaking Aspen." They were almost total strangers, we realized. It all came about through a new book by John Kieran, "Introduction To Trees," an extra informative and beautifully illustrated tome. It filled us, as it may fill nine out of ten folks, with a sense of inexcusable ignorance, since trees are around everywhere.

As Mr. Kieran says in a foreword "Most birds are migratory and we have to be alert to see them at the right time at the right place. Most of our wild flowers have a brief blooming period. But trees have always with us. With them there is no hurry. You can walk slowly and take your time. They will wait for you."

Stockholders of General Motors voted down the idea of a woman director. . . . Wanted power, not glamor, steering no doubt. . . . But we would think the auto industry was one industry where woman's hand would be welcomed, since nearly all the sales talks are directed at her. . . . We could oppose a gal director in an auto corporation only on the grounds she might try to huck up, even at directors meetings, even at directors meetings. . . . Shudda Haddim would have had "Vocabulary" at $13 but the words failed him. . . . A wonderful woman passed on the other day when Mrs. Lucy Coniff, mother of a big family including Frank and Emmett Coniff, died. . . . She not only raised a big family but plunged into politics in her home state of Connecticut in mid-life, served in the state legislature and was a state committee woman for two decades taking a terrific interest in public affairs and her dying day, at 74. . . . Maybe the slogan of the Young forces at the New York Central battle was "Don't shoot 'til you see the WHITES of their staff."

. . . Nothing will keep a man in the United States longer than a deportation proceeding. . . . Idea for a Geneva couplet: Fair Geneva, there she goes: Panmunjom in tourist clothes. . . . "Atomic energy Commission Builds Plant at Yale"—headline. . . .

Robert S. Allen Reports

Russia Conducting Drive For Trade Within U. S.

Washington—Russia is quietly conducting an extensive trade drive right inside the U. S. It's comparable to the Red's extraordinary trade maneuvers in Europe.

In recent weeks, hundreds of businessmen have notified the State and Commerce Departments that they have been approached about buying their goods by individuals with Soviet credentials.

In all instances, these agents have been found to be registered with the Justice Department, as required by law.

Their inquiries cover both strategic and non-strategic items. But they are evincing particular interest in machine tools, construction, mining, railroad and radio equipment, tractors, textiles, and surplus food stocks, especially butter, cheese and cottonseed oil.

The Russian agents are indicating they are prepared to place orders either on a barter or dollar basis.

U. S. officials are advising the business inquirers that they can sell non-strategic goods and agricultural products to Iron Curtain countries. But strategic materials are still banned.

However, it is being officially intimated that the UN embargo list, imposed after the outbreak of Communist aggression in Korea, will be considerably modified in the near future. Britain, France and other European countries, whose trade with the Reds is soaring, are vigorously denouncing that.

On May 7, this column disclosed that Foreign Aid Director Harold Stassen told a private meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that the Administration has agreed to moderate the embargo list.

When Senators H. Alexander Smith (R. N.J.) and Homer Ferguson (R. Mich.), expressed sharp criticism, Stassen contended, "The purpose of our policy is to turn Soviet economy to peaceful ends. . . . We are seeking to open up the Iron Curtain to what might be called the free world's merchants of a better life. . . . Whatever is shipped to Russia will have to be exchanged for goods they will send out."

Back in Action—Spearheading the offstage trade drive is the Amtorg Trade Corporation, official Russian agency in the U. S. Amtorg has operated for many years in this country, but it became virtually dormant after 1949 when a number of its officials were indicted for failing to register with the Justice Department. Later, these proceedings were dropped when Amtorg agreed to register as a foreign agent.

Since its revived activity, Amtorg now has a staff of 20 and has reported spending more than $25,000 for American business catalogs of all kinds, especially in electronics.

One radio concern has sold Amtorg more than $50,000 worth of goods. Other Iron Curtain countries also have increased their U. S. trade. Illustrative of this are the following reports to the Justice Department for the six-month period ending March 31.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

British Learning Sole Reason For Geneva Confab Is To Create Split With America

The British are beginning to learn that the sole purpose of the Geneva Conference, from the Soviet standpoint, has been to create a climate favorable for splitting Great Britain from the United States.

While Geneva goes on meeting and speaking, the conquest of Indochina continues and a well-timed diversion is established in Guatemala. The Soviet timetable of world disorder and world conquest moves apace, but should the British stand firmly with the United States on the organization of a Pacific NATO, the whole atmosphere could change.

The Asiatics have come so to believe in the inevitability of Russian successes that they assumed that the split between the United States and Great Britain was inevitable. Every defection, every misunderstanding, every speech on the subject in the British Parliament has been played up as indicative of the trend. The Asiatics also assumed that public opinion in the United States would not tolerate the United States going alone in Indochina or anywhere else in Asia.

The test of American strength would be whether the countries in Asia with which we have security treaties would stand by us or by Great Britain should a split come. John Foster Dulles himself described the importance of this group of nations:

"My recollection of this effort goes back to 1951, when I negotiated treaties with the Philippines and Australia and New Zealand. These treaties recognize that that area is one of vital importance to the United States. And these treaties also recognize, and were created, that they were only a beginning—only initial steps, toward the development of a more comprehensive system of security in the Pacific area."

To accommodate British opinion, Formosa has been excluded from this group. Pakistan has a separate arrangement with the United States. Japan and the Republic of Korea must be included. But the heart of the problem was and is, what would Great Britain do? And the formal position of Great Britain has been that Geneva must be completed before the British would do anything further about the Pacific.

It would seem that Molotov and Chou En-lai overplayed their hand. Geneva could go on forever, a Panmunjom style endless talk, while the Soviet Universal State conquered Indochina and moved on to Thailand. This obviously is an intolerable situation for the British as it is for the United States. How long can Anthony Eden listen to the nerve-racking insulting speeches delivered at Geneva by Molotov, Chou and the other Soviet representatives?

It is in this atmosphere that the British are having another look at Geneva. They have not experienced a Chinese truce conference such as we experienced at Panmunjom. In his book, "From the Danube to the Yalu," General Mark Clark describes what such a conference can become:

"The Communists did not want to give up the propaganda platform at Panmunjom unless they watched "Dragonet" or some other nice clean show.

Well, my dear friends, marriage is not like that at all. In the first place the little rose-covered cottage has a big mortgage on it which has to be paid off with a big chunk of your salary.

The kiddies, before they can shout bye-bye or welcome home to daddy, have first to grow up to a reasonable age. In between they have all kinds of children's diseases—such as whooping cough, mumps, measles, colds and whatnot. That means doctors and medicine and more money.

I don't know how many young men—or women, as far as that is concerned—are looking at the price tags before they get married. Have you any idea what steak, roast beef, asparagus, strawberries, coffee, coats, dresses, shoes, cost nowadays?

Have you ever compared your income with what is going to be your outgo?

Have you ever looked at a woman in curlers in the early morning, or after a day's washing, laundering, child-caring had to be done?

Matrimony is wonderful. I have enjoyed every minute of it for more than thirty years and I look forward to many more.

But matrimony is STARK REALITY—not a rosy pipe dream. With that in mind I wish you all many happy returns.

In those dreams the future husband sees himself going to work in the morning, with his little wife standing in the doorway waving goodbye, the kiddies also waving their little hands shouting "bye bye, daddy dear. Tame home soon."

In the evening daddy comes home. Again the family stands in the doorway, anxiously awaiting his return, again all waving in unison. Then come the embraces, the little shouts of delight because daddy might have brought home a bag of candy for the kiddies and a lovely diamond bracelet for the wife.

On to a fine dinner of steak or roast beef, fresh asparagus and strawberries, no matter what the season. Then the whole family retreats to the living room and

George Palmer Putnam had signed him up for a "quickie" book about his exploit, and the hastily written "We" became a great best seller overnight. I was partly right, too. He glanced at the check, smiled briefly, and commented, 'On this basis, you can come around more often.'"

Here's a Hollywood success story with a new twist. Three years ago, a high school beauty sat sipping a drink in a local drugstore and attracted the attention of a talent scout from a major studio. Today the girl is still in high school and that scout is the soda jerk in that same drugstore!

On Broadway

—by Walter Winchell

The Broadway Lights Stage Door: The arithmetic of the theatre season indicates the customary click-clack ratio.

Shows totaled 51—definite hit is number 7 (Chevy Chase). Several others, notably "Pajama Game," are certain to attain bonanza status. . . . Three of the 7 hits attracted mixed notices.

Ironically, 3 dramas received a majority of raves and flopped: "End As a Man," "Take a Giant Step" and "Girl on the Via Flaminia" . . . Amazing how one season is a replica of another: Total shows presented during 3 of the past 5 seasons numbered 50, 54 and 59. . . . The harsh realities of Broadway economics: "Almanacs" average weekly profits are $6000. It must run 10 months before backers are repaid. . . . Actors love to act. Movie twinklers toiled harder at the Phoenix theatre for $100 weekly than they do in Movieville for $1000-a-day. . . . Another show came to Washington to compete with the tv drama, "The Cretan Woman," based on an ancient Greek legend. The Senator from Variety reported it "has moments of power and fine writing although it appears an unlikely candidate for the commercial theatre." More arty than artistic.

The Cinemagicians: Alf Hitchcock's "Dial M for Murder" retains the shriek-in-the-night quality of the theatre's single-zinger. Ray Milland induces shivers while Grace Kelly warms the cockles. . . . "Blackout" is a murder mystery that commits a graver crime. Mediocrity. . . . An Italian import titled "Mistress of the Mountains" was described by one critic as a comedy and another as a tragedy. . . . "Gypsy Colt" unleashes a passable gamut-gallop, albeit it is no Native Dancer. . . . "Always a Bride" (a Britisher) is a generally sunny spoof. Pezay. . . . "Johnny Guitar" stars Joan Crawford in a saddy-faddier, podna. Hop-along Crawford almost succeeds in making the prairie seem downright chic. . . . "Caroline Cherie" (a Frenchie) co-stars Martine Carol and her torso speaking a international lingua.

The Celebrities: CBS' "Fare You Vacation" quizzer had a rather puzzling win-and-lose category. A loser received a holiday in sunny California, while the winner got a trip to dreary Germany. . . . Not many sounds echoed the beauty of Peggy Lee's honey-dipped version (via NBC) of "Bewitched, Bothered and Bewildered," the great ballad that constantly renews its charms. . . . The material famine was never more evident. Some clowns are repeating old bits which weren't amusing in the first place. Yawns never rate encores. . . . The Fireside Theatre offered a surefire formula: A drama about a boy and his dog. The corn, however, was generally sweet. . . . The fascination of the McCarthy-Army tug-of-war even makes reviewers resent the essential 10-second station identifications.

John Ireland was recently deprived of a role in a tv series as a result of accusations that he was "politically unacceptable" to sponsors. Subsequently he appeared on this reporter's program and presented his side of the story. The accusations against Ireland were based on guilt-by-association and this reporter expressed his opposition to guilt-by-association. Ireland said those responsible for the slur, last week he was cleared of any suspicion of disloyalty and received a substantial out-of-court settlement. Hokey!

Stairway to the Stars: The French Line plot has Jane Russell playing a millionairess who fears males love her only for her coin. (Ha! 5. . . . Janet Leigh's confession: "My husband and I love each other." (End of Flash). Dog-bites-man news: Guess who will play a mobster chief in the upcoming "Black Tuesday" movie? Edward G. Robinson (this is where I came in). . . . The money-in-the-bank news of the week: Marilyn Monroe will co-star with C. Gable. How car it miss? . . . How huge is CinemaScope? In a closeup, the average thespian's nose is about 25 feet long. Imagine the Great Denture in CinemaScope. . . . The "Gone With the Wind" revival is a cinch to make the rich richer. It will find a large and appreciative audience in the younger generation. . . . Debbie Reynolds' latest: "I want a fellow who is natural, unaffected, intelligent, has a sense of humor and will never resort to swearing." Sometimes I can't help shrieking: "Ofergoodness-sakes!"

The Story Tellers: Native Dancer receives the celeb treatment in Time. The weekly lists his pet dish (two quarts of oats), how he sleeps (with rear legs slightly crossed), his temperature (99.4), and pulse (34). Gad, the famous never have privacy! . . . Clark Gable gives Cosmopolitan's cover the he-man look. To my knowledge, the only other males on that mag's marquee were A. Godfrey and Jackie Gleason. . . . Add gossip columns: Newsweek stresses the tension between Sen. McCarthy and the President by reporting that Mamie once extremely cordial toward Sen. Carthy, now "treats her with studied coldness."

Christine Warns Against Creeping Influence Of Communism

Urges Greater Attention To World Events

THE CREEPING influence of Communism at home must be stopped immediately, Elmer D. Christine, Monroe County district attorney and state commander, Veterans of Foreign Wars, challenged in an address at Stroudsburg Cemetery yesterday morning culminating the annual Memorial Day exercises.

Christine said "We must apologize to our war dead for not halting what they gave their lives for in past wars."

"Our nation presently is involved in some very precarious situations," the speaker declared. "There is exceedingly great danger due to Communist aggression, particularly in the Far East."

CHRISTINE SAID, "We are not fixing our sights on the desperately dangerous things that are happening. Instead we are entertaining ourselves at home with such side shows as the McCarthy hearings now going on in Washington."

"While the world is rocking with events such as those taking place in Geneva, Indochina and Central America, it apparently behooves us to start paying more attention to that respect. We should get our minds off the comparatively unimportant elements and pay more attention to the events upon which the future of our nation depends."

CHRISTINE SAID "the fungus growth of Communism in the United States must not be 'Poo-Pooed.' He said he feels Communism in the United States are not here to overthrow the government, but rather to assist in sabotaging the nations resources should we be attacked from outside. "Expose them now," he challenged, "before they grow to such great proportions that we will be unable to cope with them. These men who have died for our cause, did so feeling the world today would be at peace. Yet it is not. Nor will it ever be at peace unless Communism is halted, and halted immediately."

Christine's talk was made at graveside memorial services for Harry Heller at Stroudsburg Cemetery.

LEO ACHTERMAN served as master of ceremonies; Rabbi William Fierwerker gave the invocation and benediction; and Company G., Stroudsburg National Guard unit, supplied the firing squad. The cemetery rites followed a parade in which VFW and American Legion members marched with Marine Corps League, Civil Air Patrol, Boy and Girl Scouts, Company G., East Stroudsburg firemen and Salvation Army members. Bands were from the Legion, Smithfield Township School and Stroudsburg High School.

The parade started at East Stroudsburg High School, ended at the cemetery. Wreaths were placed at the Legion monument at the Legion post and at the Doughboy Monument in Courthouse Square; and flower petals were scattered into Broadheads Creek from the interborough bridge in memory of Naval dead.

State Road Construction At New High

HARRISBURG (AP) — Highway construction in Pennsylvania is booming at an all-time high.

The state highways department yesterday reported it spent more than 36½ million dollars in the first five months of 1954 compared to 34½ million in the same period last year.

"This year's progress is particularly noteworthy because it indicates the work of the highways department is substantially exceeding the record pace which brought the new all-time annual expenditure of $136,011,000 in 1953," said Secy. E. L. Schmidt.

AN UNUSUALLY cold and wet spring construction season failed to materially cut down road work. "Through these expenditures, Pennsylvania's 41,000-mile state highway system is receiving improvements of immediate benefit to motorists in all parts of the state at a pace never before approached," Schmidt said.

ON SUNDAY Luther L. Hill of Milnesville, Pa., was driving behind a truck at 2 p. m. going south on Route 115 four miles north of Effort, troopers said.

The truck slowed down for a construction work and was hit in the rear by the auto. No damage was done to the truck, operated by Harry A. Kenner, 27, Wilkes-Barre, police said. Repairs to the car will cost an estimated $75.

A Scotrun girl was involved in a $450 two-car accident near Bushkill Friday. Milford troopers said the car of Elizabeth Rinker, 18, slowed to make a left turn off Route 269 and into a private driveway.

HER AUTO was struck in the rear by the car of Kenneth Davis, 18, Philadelphia, police said. Damages were $50 to the Rinker car and $400 to the other vehicle.

Blinded by the lights of oncoming cars at 10:20 p. m. Sunday, the auto of Edward Ricks, 44, Bronx, N. Y., went off Route 863 near Matamoras and struck a dirt embankment, then plunged 100 feet into the woods.

Troopers said Ricks suffered a nose cut and forehead bruises. Also hurt were two passengers: Herbert Appenzeller, Bronx, a nose bruise; and Theodore Marxom, New York City, bruises on the right eye and left knee.

The three had been spending a vacation weekend at an area resort, troopers said, and were returning home. Damage to the car was estimated at $400.

Eight Injured In Series Of Accidents Over Holiday

auto of Richard Masters, Bangor, Masters' car was hit in the back end by the car of Elwood Cones, Easton, police said.

Mount Pocono troopers reported not a single accident investigation over the holiday weekend. Traffic through the borough area was heavy on Friday and Saturday, they said; light on Sunday and on Monday morning, but was picking up again yesterday afternoon and night.

LEHIGHTON State police reported the same story; a remarkably quiet weekend, with no accident investigations.

Fern Ridge troopers investigated three accidents over the weekend but each was blamed in part on State highway repairing and reconstruction along Route 115.

At 10:15 p. m. Friday a mile and a half south of Fern Ridge the car of Frank L. Terry, 35, Tamaqua, plunged into an excavation in the road and did $250 damage to the tires and undercarriage.

At 10 a. m. Saturday $380 damage resulted in a three-car crash which occurred when Earl R. Megargel, 30, Pompton Lakes, N. J., pulled up for one of the excavation pits a half mile north of Fern Ridge, police said.

HIS CAR was struck in the rear by the car of James W. Kitts, 26, Holmes, Pa., police said.

Two Stolen Motorboats Recovered

RECOVERY of the second of two stolen motorboats was reported last night by Harold Hoyer of Stroudsburg, the finder.

The boat was owned by John R. Lescoe, Stroudsburg, and had been moored in the Delaware. The Lescoe craft and one owned by J. L. Kerlin of 721 Scott St., Stroudsburg, were reported stolen last Thursday.

The Kerlin craft, a 12-foot outboard, was found first. Kerlin had been unable to locate the craft even after a check along the river in a light plane piloted by Holt Wyckoff.

KERLIN'S boat was spotted Saturday in the rapids just north of Delaware Water Gap on the New Jersey side of the river, by Jake James, Stroudsburg.

James had been on the river in his own craft when he spotted the empty boat. It was slightly damaged, but in relatively good shape, Kerlin said. The boat was towed back to its mooring at Philip's Landing.

The second stolen craft was found Sunday between 5:30 and 6 p. m. when Hoyer and his son Robert, 9, decided to explore some of the Delaware tributaries in their rowboat.

MOVING up Broadheads creek they spotted the Lescoe boat beached but intact. Hoyer notified Lescoe and police and the craft was identified, then towed back to its original mooring.

Hoyer said the motor was attached, but was of a type to which a portable gas tank had to be fastened before it would work. It appeared that the thieves had been unable to start the motor for that reason, he said.

Police were reported investigating the thefts.

Minister Helps Save Lives, Gets Parsonage Painted

PHILLIPSBURG, N. J. (AP) — A local minister has come up with a "food proof" method for avoiding holiday traffic accidents.

Rev. Virgil E. Mahry of Wesley Methodist Church suggested to church members Sunday:

"Don't get dressed up and take to the road—stay home and paint the parsonage."

Members started out showing up by 9 a. m. By noon they had scraped and painted the back of the building.

And the women of the hundred-family congregation arranged a lunch of cold cuts, cherry pie and coffee.

Troopers said Ricks suffered a nose cut and forehead bruises. Also hurt were two passengers: Herbert Appenzeller, Bronx, a nose bruise; and Theodore Marxom, New York City, bruises on the right eye and left knee.

Tito To Receive Royal Welcome From Former Foe

ATHENS, GREECE (AP) — Yugoslav President Marshal Tito will receive a royal welcome when he arrives here Wednesday for talks on a full-scale alliance with a regime he was trying to destroy under Krenlin orders only seven years ago.

King Paul I will welcome the anti-Communist Yugoslav leader as a state guest in the Piraeus, Athens' harbor. The King will board Tito's yacht, on which the Yugoslav President sailed yesterday from Split.

In his five-day visit, Tito is expected to conclude a major policy program with the Greeks for a Balkan military alliance. The Yugoslav President himself initiated the move in an effort to transform the Greek-Turkish-Yugoslav friendship pact into a full military arrangement.

They spotted the Lescoe boat beached but intact. Hoyer notified Lescoe and police and the craft was identified, then towed back to its original mooring.

Mine-Opening Decision Left To Employes

LANSFORD (AP)—The economic future of the Panther Valley hinged yesterday on miners' acceptance of a plan by the Lehigh Navigation Coal Co. to resume operations only on a "work longer hours" basis.

More than 5,000 miners from Lansford, Tamaqua, Coaldale and Nesquehoning, all in the Panther Valley embracing a population of more than 30,000 will E-dit on the question today.

The company offered the plan Saturday to end a month-long shut-down of seven mines and three coal preparation plants. The program is geared to a demand for increased coal production per man as the only solution to keeping the mines operating.

ACCEPTANCE of the plan would mean 3,500 of the 4,500 men idle would start work Wednesday. "The only solution to this problem is to obtain a substantial increase in production per man," said company president W. J. Patton.

Martin F. Brennan, president of United Mine Workers District 7 which includes the Panther Valley, said he would recommend acceptance of the plan on the basis that it is within the UMW's contract terms with the company.

FROM A World War II force of 6,300 men, the Lehigh operations fell off to 5,400 employees last year and to 4,500 just before the current shutdown started May 3.

The company claimed it sustained "excessive losses" because of a hard coal price war coupled with lagging production efforts by individual miners.

The crux of a five-point plan put forth by the company is a demand that contract miners work beyond the point where they earn $16.95 a day, the minimum prescribed by the UMW contract.

CONTRACT MINERS, as distinguished from other coal miners, are paid on a piece work basis. When coal is readily available, they are able to earn more than the contract minimum.

The company has complained that many contract miners, upon earning the daily minimum wage, go home early despite their ability to mine more coal in the span of a seven-hour shift.

Brennan explained contract miners are entitled to do this under the contract but predicted they would cooperate with the company in increasing production.

"It's a two-way street," he said. "If they want increased production from the contract miner, company officials will have to make sure that supplies are handy, that timber they want is not in another gangway, and that coal cars are ready when needed."

Under the company's plan, somewhat more than 1,000 of the 4,500 men out of work will not be returned immediately.

Some 541 surface mining workers will be suspended indefinitely pending the outcome of the deep mine experiment. An additional 275 rock men, whose jobs are confined to opening up new deep mine tunnels for development work, also will continue unemployed.

The company said 224 men will be laid off permanently even if the plan is accepted.

Memorial Day Speaker Gives Talk On Honor

BANGOR — Alfred M. Nittle, Bangor attorney and assistant district attorney for Northampton County, was the principal speaker at Memorial Day exercises yesterday at the St. John's Cemetery.

The title of Nittle's address was "Honor." He spoke of the peace and freedom all Americans have anticipated following all the great conflicts in which America has been involved and paid tribute to those heroes who gave their lives in these wars.

Nittle began by explaining the various events leading to the outbreak of hostilities in the American Revolution, the War of 1812, the Civil War, World Wars I and II, and the Korean conflict. He concluded by lauding the Americans that died in these battles to preserve and protect the ideals they fought for.

BURGESS HAYDEN B. Pritchard, of Bangor, introduced Nittle and acted as master of ceremonies for the traditional exercises.

Robert Gangewere, Bangor High School senior, recited the poem "Flanders Field," and Robert LaBar, also a high school senior, recited Lincoln's "Gettysburg Address."

Rev. W. L. Hackman, pastor of the First Methodist Church, offered the devotions. A quartet composed of members of the Apollo Male Chorus sang. They were directed by Russell Sandercock. A selection was played by the E. H. Evans American Legion Post Drum and Bugle Corps.

SALUTES TO the honored dead were fired by squads from the Joel E. Serfass Sons of Union Veterans Post and Dyle E. Bray Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, while taps were played.

A parade preceded the ceremonies at the cemetery. The parade began at Town Hall and proceeded to the cemetery. H. Cyril Docking was the parade marshal and was assisted by Charles Henderson.

Dr. Stolte and his wife will continue to reside in Bangor.

Man Kills Wife, Ends Own Life

COUDERSPORT (AP)—Authorities yesterday listed as murder-suicide the weekend deaths of a Coudersport man and his wife in their home here.

Walter Taylor, deputy coroner of Potter County, said John Harrington, about 40, shot and killed his wife with a rifle Saturday as two of his stepchildren, aged 10 and 19, watched. Harrington then killed himself with a shotgun blast, Taylor said.

Relatives said the deaths climaxed a night of quarreling dur-

Display Advertising Copy DEADLINES

Advertising copy deadlines, just as news copy deadlines, are necessary... in fact, are imperative to the publication of a newspaper.

Enforcement of deadlines makes it possible to give readers a better newspaper, delivered on schedule. A better newspaper, promptly delivered to all sections of the trading area, means a better advertising medium.

It follows that adequate time for the proper handling of advertising copy, without interference with the mechanics of news production... and without jeopardizing the "on time" delivery of the newspaper... permits the better handling of advertising copy to work to the advantage of the advertiser in a better advertising medium.

In the interest of better serving ALL advertisers, all copy for display advertising, including classified display, must meet the following deadlines:

Monday Copy	5 P. M. Friday
Tuesday Copy	12 Noon Saturday
Wednesday Copy	5 P. M. Monday
Thursday Copy	5 P. M. Tuesday
Friday Copy	5 P. M. Wednesday
Saturday Copy	5 P. M. Thursday

Wheat Buyers Alerted On '54 Purchases

DAVID H. GRIFFITH, chairman of the Monroe County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said yesterday that since marketing quotas are in effect for the 1954 wheat crop, farmers who do not comply with their farm wheat acreage allotments become subject to a lien on their wheat crop until the marketing quota penalty is paid.

"When anyone purchases wheat from a producer, he should be certain that such producer is eligible to sell his wheat," Mr. Griffith declared.

The purchaser, therefore, should request the producer to present a wheat marketing card or marketing certificate at the time the wheat is offered for sale, Griffith advised.

THE PRODUCERS eligible for marketing cards will have an opportunity to obtain their marketing card prior to the time it is necessary to use them. These cards can be obtained from the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office in the Court House. Failure to present a marketing card or certificate at the time of sale will be evidence that the wheat is not clear of lien for the penalty, and the buyer will be held responsible for the lien the same as he would be for purchasing wheat with any other lien attached, the chairman warned.

Children of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Transue, spent Tuesday with their aunt, Mrs. Robert Felencor.

On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Otto Succow, of Mt. Rest Farm, called on Mrs. Paul Barry.

Sherwin-Williams House Paints Best By Test Of Use Says Paint Service Center

THERE ARE so many house paints available today . . . each making "claims" to superiority . . . that you're a right to ask which will really give the maximum in beauty and protection for your home. Paint Service Center announces. Actually, some will give two years of service, still others three. A limited number will give four years, and a select few may give five or more years of service.

Brands differ in the way they "wear", too. Some attract and hold dirt. Some quickly discolor or fade. Others "chalk" so freely that rain will wash off the pigments excessively in so-called "self-cleaning" effect.

OBVIOUSLY, the house paint that gives the longest lasting beauty and protection is your best buy. Don't forget . . . since the labor is the same for all grades, the savings for your entire house between the cheaper-gallon paint and top quality will total only $5 to $10.

How can you tell which is which? Studying the published formula would give you only part of the story. For good paint today is more than a formula of raw materials packed in a can. The methods, controls, and exactitude with which paint is produced all contribute to its quality. To explain the many technical aspects would take a "treatise" too voluminous for quick study. That's why you must depend to a considerable degree, on the reputation of the paint manufacturer for integrity.

Eleanor J. Metropoulos Is Bride Of Harold Siegfried

Miss Eleanor Jean Metropoulos, daughter of George Metropoulos, of 908 1/2 Main St., Stroudsburg, became the bride of Harold Walter Siegfried, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Siegfried, of 802 Sarah St., Stroudsburg, at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon before the candle-lit altar of Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg. Prior to the formal nuptial rites, Miss Jane Lipe sang two soprano wedding arias: "Because" and "Always." Miss Lipe wore a Navy-blue nylon dress with matching accessories and a pink rose-bud corsage. During the wedding prayers, as the bridal couple knelt on a white satin pillow before the altar, Miss Lipe sang "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte. Miss Lela Bunnell, Grace Church organist, presided at the console. She rendered a melody of wedding melodies as a prelude.

Rev. William F. Wampler, Grace Church pastor, officiated at the double-ring ceremony in the presence of a large congregation of friends and relatives. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a flowing floor-length wedding gown which had a Peter-Pan collar and long sleeves. Its style was formed of Chantilly lace from the waist upward and the skirt of nylon-net with Chantilly lace enmeshed, with a layer of stiff net beneath with a satin skirt under the net. Her finger-tip veil was set in a coronet of matching lace. She carried a white Bible surmounted with orchids. White satin streamers formed a shower illusion flowing from the orchid bouquet.

Miss Lois Baechtold was maid-of-honor. She wore a yellow full-length gown of nylon net over tulle skirt with matching jacket of Chantilly lace and headpiece. She carried a cascade bouquet of Spring flowers. Miss Carol Wallis and Miss Ann Lutz were bridesmaids. They wore attired in lavender full-length gowns of nylon net over tulle skirt with matching jackets of Chantilly lace and headpiece. They carried Colonial bouquets of Spring flowers.

Jean and Joan Drake, six-year old twins, were flower-girls. Each was dressed in yellow organza attire with black patent leather shoes. They carried tiny Colonial bouquets of variegated Spring flowers. Bruce Allen Siegfried, 4-year old brother of the bridegroom, was ring-bearer. He wore a black tuxedo and carried the rings on a white satin pillow which was made especially for the occasion by the bridegroom's mother.

Samuel Getz served as best-man. Harry Faber Jr. and Lester Slutter were ushers. Each wore a black tuxedo with white carnation boutonniere. William Tough was acolyte and wore a black cassock and red surplice. The candle-lit altar was graced with bouquets of white snapdragons.

The bridegroom's mother wore a Navy-blue suit with matching accessories and a red rosebud corsage. Immediately after the wedding a reception was held at Albino's Wigwam Inn on Route 611 where 200 guests enjoyed the festivities. A buffet style luncheon was served. A four-tiered wedding cake surmounted by a miniature bride and bridegroom featured the attractive decorations.

The newlyweds left for a brief honeymoon in New York City. For her going-away attire the bride wore a grey gabardine suit with white accessories and an orchid corsage.

The bride was graduated from the Stroudsburg High School with the Class of 1952. She is employed as an operator with the Bell Telephone Company in Stroudsburg. The bridegroom was graduated from Stroudsburg High School with the Class of 1951 and is employed as an apprentice with the Hughes Publishing Com-

Meckes-Ace Nuptials Are Observed At Christ Church

Miss Anna Jane Ace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Ace, of Stroudsburg RD 2, became the Spring bride of Dewey Amos Meckes, son of Mrs. Ada Meckes and the late Harry Meckes, of Blakeslee, at Christ Church, Hamilton Square, on Saturday.

The simple, but pretty single ring ceremony was performed at 2 o'clock by the pastor, Rev. John B. Bergstresser, in the presence of relatives and friends of the couple.

The church decorations consisted of pink and white gladioli on the altar. Suitable nuptial music was furnished by the organist, Miss Nancy Thomas, of Wind Gap. Soloist was Mrs. Grant Knowles, of Saylorburg, who was heard in the numbers, "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina length dress of white nylon net over satin, with lace jacket. Her fingertip veil of nylon net had tiara of rhinestones and pearls. She wore long lace mitts and carried a white Bible on which was an orchid. It could be said the bride wore something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

There's just nothing like a holiday. I always say, to leave one in a perfect state of confusion for the week ahead. This may well be Tuesday—but don't ask me to prove it, even though I did see Ann Williams of our Tea Room, busy with her wash basket yesterday, and even though it does seem that last Saturday was a very long time ago.

I've never looked up the word "holidays" in my dictionary, but I'll bet you a devil's crab platter that it isn't defined as a day of rest. Rest? Anything but. It's a day of children demanding, "What can we do now?" Of people rising at all hours for breakfast, and even more dishes than usual much more frequently. It's a day of noise and excitement—Mel Allen's voice competing agitatedly with the clacking of the typewriter.

As I said before, it doesn't seem possible that this is Tuesday, and I'm positive to go through the week dating all my letters incorrectly... but this I know, it's a work day with our store open from 9:30 to 5:30, and just between us, it'll be good to be back in harness.

Did you meet any new people over the weekend? I did, and enjoyed the experience immensely, even though "Mary Anne" and her friends were between the covers of Daphne du Maurier's new book of that title. Published by Doubleday, "Mary Anne" is not scheduled for appearance in most book stores until mid-June, but happily she paid an early visit to Wyckoff's.

If you fancied "Rebecca" and "My Cousin Rachel", or found pleasure in "Frenchie's Creek" and "The King's General", you'll also take "Mary Anne" to your literary heart. You'll find interest in her rise from the alleys of London to the position of royal favorite, precipitating "one of the liveliest scandals ever to rock the House of Commons."

Daphne du Maurier is, to my way of thinking, one of the most fortunate novelists of our time. In addition to a very wonderful talent for story telling, she has a closet filled with family skeletons waiting to be rattled. She charmed us long ago with "The du Mauriers"—the story of her famous family, and now admits that the notorious Mary Anne Clarke was her great-great grandmother. The book is dedicated to this favorite of the Duke of York, who died in Boulogne on the 21st of June, 1852, and to Gertrude Lawrence, the beloved British actress, who was to have brought "Mary Anne" to the stage had she herself not died in September of 1932.

It's strange isn't it?—Mary Anne Clarke was a debt-ridden beauty, whose wanderings from the straight-and-narrow will undoubtedly add quite a few guineas to the bankroll of her clever young descendant. Rattle us another skeleton, Miss du Maurier! We love those rattles, like a baby.

Vukovich Wins Second '500' Pocono A. C. Divides Holiday Pair

By Jerry Liska

Indianapolis (7) — Bill Vukovich, poker-faced throttle demon from Fresno, Calif., zoomed to a record-breaking triumph yesterday in becoming the third man in history to win the grueling Indianapolis Speedway 500-mile race two successive years.

As the huge, sprawling crowd of an estimated 175,000 held its breath while black clouds threatened to deluge the finish, Vukovich became a speedway immortal with Wilbur Shaw and Mauri Rose.

Shaw won two straight 500's in 1938 and 1939 and Rose in 1947 and 1948.

Vukovich, buried in the seventh row at the start of the four-hour grind, moved into first place at the 230-mile mark and then battled it out with Jimmy Bryan of Phoenix, Ariz., and favored Jack McGrath of South Pasadena, Calif., the rest of the way.

Vukovich gunned his grey fuel injection special the tortuous 500 miles at 130.840 miles per hour to finish exactly one lap ahead of runner-up Bryan. Third went to McGrath, who was the pole car driver after a record qualifying mark of 141.633 m.p.h.

Vukovich's clocking was almost two miles per hour faster than the 1952 track record set by Troy Ruttman, who wound up fourth yesterday after relief help. Ruttman's record time in 1952 was 128.925 m.p.h.

The elapsed time for Vukovich's scorching race yesterday was 3:49:17.7. This compared with Ruttman's 1952 time 3:52:41.88.

Vukovich, who wants "two or three more" 500-mile triumphs before retiring to a 40-acre grape farm near Fresno, was rewarded at the finish line by an enthusiastic kiss from TV and movie star Marie Wilson. Bill's wife, Esther, also got in a big hug and kiss.

Ideal weather prevailed until about 80 miles from the finish, when a storm front accompanied by a gusty wind moved over the sprawling speedway plant.

With debris and a fine mist scattering the course, the "slow up" yellow signal went on for six and one-half minutes.

Vukovich gunned for the record all the way, despite the slow-up and a 12 minute, 25 second warning which marked one of the mishaps midway in the wild scramble.

The nearest to a tragedy among the four accidents came as Jimmy Daywalt and relief driver Pat Flaherty locked wheels after Daywalt earned off the outside wall on the north-west turn. However, both drivers were able to walk away from the cars.

On the 191st lap, another thrill came as Jimmy Rathmann skidded wildly 200 yards directly in front of the finish stands but brought his car under control and walked off the track.

The lead changed hands seven times, involving six drivers, before Vukovich went ahead for k-e-p-s on the 150th trip around the two and one-half mile brick and asphalt course.

It was evident from the start that only a track-clogging wreck could prevent a new record. Every 30 miles, from the opening 50, a record clocking was reported.

The swift little machines held up much better than the drivers, with 18 of the starting 33 still running at the finish. On the other hand, drivers were changed in 15 cars at least once.

Clips Tatamy; Falls Before Stockertown

Pocono A. C. hit the base-ball heights and depths in the Blue Mountain League over the Memorial Day holiday, beating second place Tatamy on Sunday, 6-5, and then suffering a onesided thumping at the hands of Stockertown yesterday, 16-6.

Sunday's encounter was played at Gordon Giffels field, while yesterday's loss took place at Stockertown.

Tatamy jumped off to a 3-0 lead but gave way to some hard hitting by the Poconos. The visiting club scored two runs in the first when Ralph Fisher walked and scored on Charlie Rotzels's double to deep rightfield. Rotzels continued to third when Bill "Bump" Metzger bobbled the relay and scored a moment later on a steal of home.

Paul Stoudt hit a home run into the leftfield stands to give Tatamy a 3-0 lead in the second.

Pocono A. C. bounced back with two runs in the fourth and two in the fifth to move ahead 4-3. Dave Nevil reached first on Fisher's error. Art Schaare singled and Nevil scored on Al Adelman's sacrifice fly. Schaare moved to second and scored on Russ Staples single to account for the two runs in the fourth.

Harold White started things off in the fifth with a single and Bob Smith followed with another single. Both scored on Randy Morris' tremendous triple to deep centerfield. Morris was picked off third base to end that rally.

Tatamy knotted the score at 4-4 in the eighth when John Flegler singled, went to second on a balk by Metzger and scored on Stoudt's ground rule double to left-centerfield.

The Poconos scored two runs in the bottom of the eighth to move out in front 6-4. Morris and Nevil singled and both scored on Schaare's double to right-centerfield.

Tatamy threatened in the ninth inning but Metzger was equal to the occasion to fan the last two batters with one run and two men on base. Bill Zanette Fisher, and Rotzels all singled, the latter driving Zanette home for a score. Then Metzger proceeded to go to work striking out Jim Miller and Flegler to end the game.

Stockertown treated Bill Sommers and Harold Jacobsen roughly yesterday, scoring almost at will.

Analomink Wins Over Kunkletown

Kunkletown—Analomink put on its best display of power baseball of the current Pocono Mountains League season on Sunday and rolled to a 14-1 victory over Kunkletown, here on the losing club's home grounds.

Analomink, under the guidance of Manager Al Kassner, used two four-run innings to do the bulk of its damage.

The visiting nine led 2-1 at the end of the first frame, but a grand-slam home run by Melvin "Bub" Bush put Analomink into a 6-2 edge after three frames.

Errors Hurt
Analomink went on to last out 11 hits and take advantage of six Kunkletown errors to score a singleton in the fourth, two in the sixth, four more in the eighth and an insurance marker in the ninth.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 2. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
